

At home with joliekorek.com

Sensual Linens Rock this Cozy Zen Beach Cottage aka Size Matters

A variety of linen fabrics & wallpapers rock this cozy beach house. Painting by Fabricio Fabri, F&F Faux Finish Painting, warmed up this lovely East Hampton beach cottage. The window wall is surrounded by faux painted wood boards. The stripes and the faux driftwood boards give this cottage a beachy feel.

Photography by Peter Kubilus

The living room is both earthy and sensuous. The soft soothing fabrics simultaneously put you at ease and stimulate your senses. Designer Jolie Korek claims it's all about texture in this living room. Guests want to touch all the fabrics. Fabrics are soft and inviting.

Silhouettes really tell the story in this home. Space is limited - so every inch counts. The lovely end table designed by Jolie Korek, made of Macassar ebony and walnut is rich and soothing. The horizontal Macassar lines replicates the surf feel. It is both elegant and beachy. Star gazing is always fun activity at the home. Horizontal stripes and linen create an earthy transparency.

The guest bedroom has many vignettes. The colorful artwork is both playful and whimsical.

Photography by Peter Kubilus

Photography by Peter Kubilus

Cleopatra the weimy feels at ease in the bedroom where the textures are sleek and beachy. Designer Jolie Korek's headboard and platform are upholstered with a shiny black linen fabric giving it an edgy feel. Three different Phillip Jeffreys' wall papers, mix together and create an earthy style. The wallpapers are very textural. Even the wood carpet creates a warm beachy platform for the linen bed.

Photography by Peter Kubilus

In the master bath Korek, installed a rock tile floor, bringing the outside in. This two person tub and four person shower creates a sensual spa feeling.

Photography by Peter Kubilus

Every inch counts in this house. By raising the ceilings to the roof line the house becomes open and airy. The light pours in and blue sky seems endless.